Trends Analysis

An Instructor resource for professional development.

Within this report Instructors will be able to

- Use at-a-glance reports to focus on quality of instruction
- View results across multiple academic terms without having to pull up side-by-side reports
- Make connections between longitudinal data sets for holistic insights

To view this report Instructors can log into the faculty experience and click on Trends Analysis button in the grey bar.

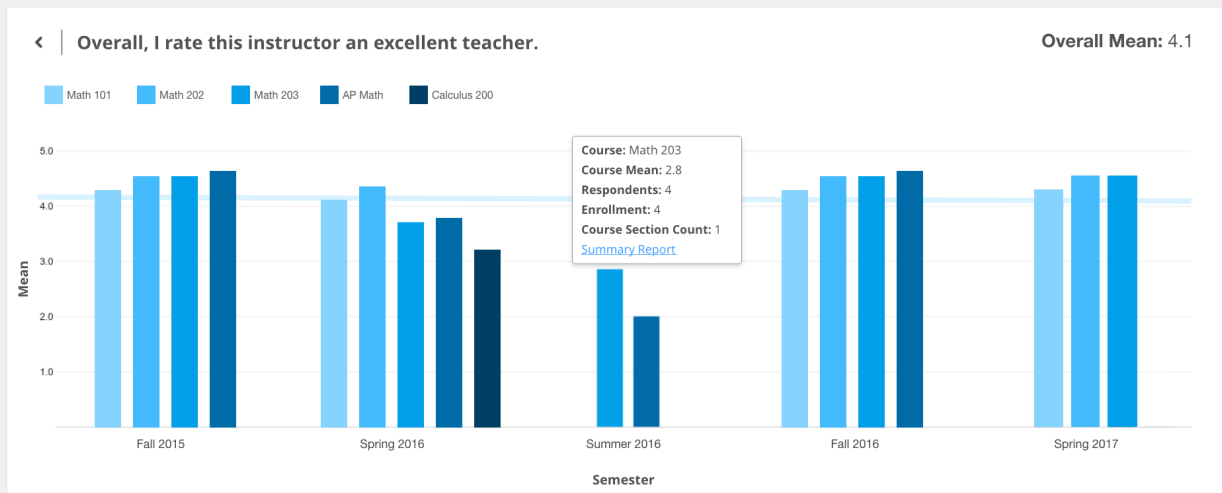

The main page of the report shows all of the questions that have been on an instrument that was used to evaluate a course section the instructor has taught.

Instructors can get more detailed information by clicking on a question they would like to look into further. This detail page shows the Instructor their means for this question per course across all the semesters it has been asked. An Overall Mean is also shown which is a calculation of all responses from all course sections for this question.

Trends Analysis

A filter option is available by clicking on the box next to a course. An Instructor may want to only compare the results of two courses.

Additionally, when clicking on any one of the bars a course details box will appear. This box will provide more contextual information about the course including the mean, number of responses, number of enrollments and how many sections of this course there were. From here an Instructor can also link to their Summary Report for the semester in which that course was taught.

Segment Comparison

This report displays a graphical representation of the mean and frequency distribution. A bench marking option is available for the applicable Course, Program, Department, College, or institution-wide mean (these options vary by institution). To customize the comparison displayed select the segment to view in the Your Course Compared to dropdown menu. A count of responses and course sections is then displayed for that segment.

Each question may be expanded to view frequency information. The mean difference displays if the comparison segment is similar, higher, much higher, lower or much lower.

Please note that this report only displays questions that have a mean calculated. The report does not identify other faculty or specific courses, just the summary data.
